LA PATI SA MARKETS AN AFFORDABLE, MODULAR AND ECOLOGICAL ICE RINK.

After years of research and tinkering, Antoine Descloux and his team came up with a revolutionary ice rink concept that combines economic, environmental and practical advantages. La Pati SA (a Swiss ice rink specialist), with its professional management, takes full care of the construction and subsequent operation of the facility. The Fribourg-based company builds and markets fixed ice rinks that are ecological and cost-effective to operate and cost less than five million Swiss francs!

MODULAR AND SIMPLE

With its unique offer, La Pati SA encourages all Swiss municipalities to invest in their sports infrastructure: The «Pol Arena» ice rinks are perfectly adapted to different ice sports, be it for competitions (certified rink), training or leisure. The Fribourg-based company offers a basic structure that includes an ice rink area and various annexes that are essential for the smooth running of a sports operation (entrance and reception, changing rooms, sanitary facilities, first-aid station, restaurant with entrance and exit to the ice, skate rental, etc.). La Pati SA envisages the construction of basically identical ice rinks, while customers can customize and adapt the plan according to their needs and the available land. The company fully responds to the wishes and specific concerns of its customers!

CONTROLLED OPERATION

With the «Pole Arena» concept, La Pati SA is counteracting the often preconceived opinion surrounding the construction and operation of this type of sports infrastructure that it is too expensive, difficult to use and difficult to utilize. The affordable price of the ice rink and the operating partnership included in the offer are intended to facilitate operation. Through this professional support, the project planners promise a lean and manageable cost structure. The ice rinks of the «Pol Arena» are not only built quickly (in about nine months), but can also be used immediately and therefore quickly lead to balanced finances. And all this for less than five million Swiss francs. With its 15 years of experience, La Pati SA is committed to relieving its customers of operational and administrative burdens. Over the years, the renowned Swiss company has built up several professional departments that take care of the design, development, manufacture, maintenance, renovation and management of ice rinks.

FOR THE SAKE OF THE ENVIRONMENT

La Pati SA is a member of the Minergie building label and follows a modern environmental policy. For this reason, the company has made it its business to use systematically renewable energies, ecological materials (the base frame, for example, is made of Swiss wood) and energy-saving materials in the development and construction of the "Pol Arena" ice rinks. Swiss wood) and energy-saving technologies. This commitment includes the recovery of energy: The ice rinks are self-sustaining and produce as much electricity as they actually consume (in particular through photovoltaics)!
